NOT DISFRANCHISED.

There are no grounds whatever for the statement that the decision of the supreme court in the Soldiers' Home case distranchises the instates of that institution. If they are disfranchised at all the law thoulf is the disfranchising eavy. power. The supreme court has merely and trued the meaning of the language of the statutes. That meaning being fixed by the court, the law must operate in harmony with it. As a matter of fact the decision simply holds that an elector qualified to vote in one township shall not be qualified to vote in another; that is, he shall not be eligible to vote in two player at the same time. The veterans not having lost their former residence upon entering the Soldiers' Home could But good a swid-nee in the township where it is situated. Their right to vote genains unimpaired, but that right may be exercised only in their legal place of resolence. In order to vote, therefore, the number would be greatly inconvenlearned in going to and returning from their respective pinces of residence. There is already before the legislature and people a resolution providing for an amendment to the constitution by which the innuites of the Soldiers' Home shall be entitled to vote in the township of Grand Rapids. Such a provision would be eminently praiseworthy.

PASSING OF A PARTY.

One of the lessons of the late election is that political socialism cannot thrive among our institutions. The showing made by the people's party last Tuesday betrays the inherent weakness of the organization in those sections where its greatest strength was developed the year before. In the election of 1802 the people's party elected 22 presidential el-store and secured a representation in congress consisting of eight representatives and five senators. In the last election the party made no gains anywhere and was routed in its chief strongholds. Numbers is there visible the slightest en ouragement for the perpetuity of the principles of the Omaha platform. The people who were lured to their advocacy have been undeceived. The wildly exaggerated statements of existing evils and the remedies proposed to cure them have fallen polseiss in the political sanda. The good hard sense of the masses has reasserted itself to check the frend toward socialism. The people's gorty was not without redseming qualities, but the aparchistic elements within it nomined the leavening power of the little good. That evils have fastened themselves like tarnacies upon our system of government is indisputably true but the sweeping revolution proposed by the Canalia platform would only intensify them and add others infinitely more undesirable. The passing of the propies party is a welcome reliuke to socialism in every form.

ALTGELD AND ANARCHY.

When Chief Asserblet Alignid pardensel his three brothren, Schwab, Finites and Norte from prison, he seged in extenuation of his surprising set of clomency that the punishment abuily being by their had been sufficlent in buscle there to respect the law. The man themselves, so soon as the disc to liberty had been opened, procornect that they were done with anarrive. Yesterlay one of them, Neebe, getted as marshal of a processor of agarelists on its way to commemorate at their graves in Waldheim the virtues of the fire microrous who were hanged Norember 11, 1807, for participation in the claymacket managers and for which sums official Nactio was sent to prison for a tories of officers years. At the graves Schmidt and Fielden delivered largely confined to a description of the securitary he experienced the night be twenty three miles. fore the day of the execution when he believed himself doesnot to die. Betweets the pricing be discovers his majo." suinet harrol of excists, and in concluding adjures his bourses to press foward with now occurrige. It is simust incredthis that this own should dare to return to the eary work that ones landed him in prison. It is incredible that a governor should be as blinded to his real charge. ter so to turn him inces again to poison. the social atmosphere in which the law permitte him to much. The speech of Finition was less diplomatic than Schwab's. He had the engrouse hapederce to pose so a member of organized labor. The hypocrisy of his ritiralous boast in orregion in the character of the escentily that atout in the rain to hear him. It was composed of foreign- do so for a quarter, ers, and the only members of la tor unions present were foreign-born maisters and brewers. The temopetration was not a harmless thing. It forebodes svil. The unarchists are determined to wreak veograms for the judicial execution of those dead murderers, and the legand "No God, no Lord, no Slaves," is significant of that purpose.

WILLIAM'S SPORT.

Emperor William is a great sportsman. Between juggling with the tariff and disciplining the army he puts in his time in one of his luxurious castles or in pursuit of game. He is a tine rider and is said to follow the hounds with remarkable success. His desterity as a hunter is explained in part by an article is the Tugeblatt, which in comenting upon the emperor's crase for hunting tells a story of the last wild boar hunt at Hubertustock on St. Hubert's day. The boar had been carefully prepared for death at the emperor's hands. The points of its tusks had been sawed off and its tooth had been docked so as to prevent any chance of its wounding anybody. The brute had been kept in a box until the hunters appeared on the scope. It was then released, and crippled and defenceless, was killed by the emperor while riding at a gallop. The excitement of such sport as this must drive the emperor delirious with joy. There are Grand Rapids sportsmen who are elevated to the ninth heaven of exultant rapture when they are so lucky as to have the price to pay for the game which somebody else has killed. But to think of having a wild boar maimed, mangled and crippled and then held before the muzzle of a gun is enough to drive them wild from

STEEL RAILS. How will the free-trader get around the fact that with a protective tariff in full operation the price of steel rails has steadily declined from $20 to $21.90 per ton, and that too within a year, if he shall jusist that the tariff is a tax which robs the consumer? The price of steel rails at Pittsburg is lower than the price of English steel rails at New York. This condition of things has been brought about by competition between domestic manufacturers. The British manufacturer has been compelled to pay a license to compete with our manufacturers and that license has made it possible for our manufacturers to pay high wages and give employment to thousands of American workingmen without robbing any man's dinnerpail. The active competition of home manufacturers has created a demand for improved machinery to increase the output from a given expenditure of money and muscle. The increased output has lessened the cost of production and also the selling price. Without the protection of the tariff the English manufacturer would have supplied the demand, the price would have either remained stationary or increased, and thousands of iron and steel workers would not have had employment. Theoretically, the consumer has paid the tax; but practically the price of steel rails has been reduced, thousands have been given profitable employment and nobody has experienced the slightest oppression. The theory is a pretty bauble; the actuality is a material blessing.

PRINCETON theological students may no longer play foot ball. The faculty of the seminary has issued an order prohibiting the sport on the ground that "the rough and brutal game does not comport with the purpose for which the students are here." This is a fatal mistake on the part of the faculty. The man who can go into a foot ball game and curb his natural desire to smash the nose and kick the ships of his each and every opponent, is a christian in the most exalted sense of the term, and a fit person to preach the gospel of peace on earth and good will toward men. Instead of foot ball's being prohibited, it should be made the crucial test of the students' religious instincts.

Ir is evident that the "Arizona Kicker" is but a myth, and that the spirit of journalistic freedom which is supposed to pervade the wild west exists no longer except in the imagination of the people. A Tucson judge has sentenced the managing editor and city editor of the Phoenix Gazette to jail for contempt of court, and imposed a fine in addition to the other punishment. Now, indeed, have the hideous customs of the effete east sapped the very life blood of Arizona newspaper enterprise.

Condensary Breakpoonwill remain in Washington during the recess to acquaint himself with the practical workings of the departments. A recent decision of the supreme court removes any cloud upon his title to the seat, and he will remain in undisturbed possession until a worthy republican shall be nomimpley and sector.

AMUSEMENT NOTES. "She" packed The Grand last night and the scenic effects were a revelation to the majority of the audience. Mr. Haggard's uncancy story of adventure permits wonderful stage settings, and Mr. Pearson has been laviab, the city of hor by moonlight and the cavern and the pillar of fire being very good. For dramatic purposes the story has been slightly changed. The leading feminine roles are in the hands of two very shapely women. Ethel Raynes looks "She" to perfection. The Ustans of Mand Durand was at once fearless and tember, and presented a striking contrast to the queen of Kor. Edward Browne as Leo and the Horace Holley of Fred Summerfield found favor with the audnce, as did the Billaii of William Les. The balance of the cast was equal to requirements. "She" will hold the boards in The Grand for the week.

For years Lillian Lewis has been actng in plays that ran blood, Now Law-Mureton, her husband and maniger, has shifted her ground and written for her a play without intrigue, without villains, without horrors. sured that everything coarse, indecently oggestive, morally unwholesome and repulsive is conspicuous by absence. pleasant, gentle, attractive, wholesome and noble. Oscar Wilde, the angular arethetic, has survived the sunflower period of studied affectation and become a playwright and a philosopher. In writing "Lady Windermere's Fan." which was pechaps the most successful play produced in London last season, he proved that he is not such an idiot as some people might have believed.

The latest device for advertising Marie Tempest is the discovery of a "diaboli-cal" attempt to poison her. Somebody "presented" her with a bunch of roses. the leaves of which were sprinkled with strychnine. "They do but poison in jest," explained the young Lord Hamlet. John Temple Graves, the brilliant southern orator, will open the Star course in Lockerby hall next Tuesday evening. J. A. Gonzalez said yesterday: "Mr. Graves is without doubt, the finest speaker on the platform today." There was a fair audience in Smith's last night to enjoy a repetition of last week's bill. Tonight the Rose Hill Folly company will open for a week's run. Rice and Barton are the principal fun makers. "F. S. Willard's farce comedy produc-tion of 'Hamlet,' " is what an irreligious eastern commentator calls it.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

Impressive Services Held at Plymouth

Congregational Church. Plymouth congregational church at the corner of Fifth avenue and Dolbee street was formally dedicated yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The sive services were conducted in the presence of a large congregation. The Rev. R. C. Crawford offered the invocation and the Rev. Dan F. Bradley read the scripture lesson. Dr. James Gallup presented greetings from the mother church, and a historical statement of the church, and a historical statement of the erection of the edifice. Plymouth church was formerly a mission of Park church. Greetings from the baptist church were given by the Rev. John Heritage; from the methodist church by the Rev. J. Hamilton, and from the congregational by the Rev. John T. Husted. The building committee rendered a statements of its work, after which Miss bilanche Minderhout sang a solo. The Blanche Minderhout sang a solo. The Rev. R. M. Higgins, paster of the church, read the dedicatory service, the congregation responding. The Rev. L. P. Powell offered the dedicatory prayer, and the pastor pronounced the dedica cation. In the evening the Rev. Dan F. Bradley occupied the pulpit of the

The Late Minister To Hawaii Is Red Hot!

At least we are so informed by the newspapers of recent date that he is. Well, if he can only remain so until about April next. it may result in a great saving to him in the matter of fuel the coming winter. We are not all situated as the L. M. to H. and therefore must cast our eyes around to find something that will take the place of the heat that pervades his frame. The simplest, casiest, most economical and satisfactory way to get the best heat results with the least expenditure of money is to buy

AN OIL HEATER!

The improvements that have been made in the manufacture of these Heaters have resulted in producing a simple, durable little stove that performs simply wonders in turning blustering, boisterous winter into sweet and balmy spring. We have several different makes, the Perfect, the Model, and the Eclipse, all good, all cheap, all just as they should be. Many times you want to heat temporarily a room in which you have no stove or furnace pipe, and nothing, at such a time will prove as valuable as an OIL HEATER.
